LIENWEBER ESCAPES FROM CUSTODY

On Tuesday, Nov. 1, Pete Lienweber came before Police Magistrate, I.U. MacLennan, of Swallow, on two charges, one of horse stealing and the other for the theft of a saddle. Lienweber was committed for trial on both charges and was lodged in the local police barracks. On Wednesday Lienweber asked to be let out for a few minutes and Corp. Purdy accompanied him. But just then, we understand, the telephone rang and Corp. Purdy went to answer the call, little thinking that the prisoner would ever try to make a getaway. But Lienweber turned the trick and made a dash for freedom, gaining the top of the golf course hill, it is alleged, and disappearing. Inspector Harrison, of the A.P.P. division at Drumheller, was immediately notified, as were the various officers of the police force in the surrounding districts, and a search was made, but no trace of the man could be found that night. Next morning, when all the countryside was notified, it was found that the prisoner had slept in Braden's barn all night and had breakfasted at their farm house the next morning. And later in the day he applied at the home of W. Woods for dinner. By that time most of the farmers of the district had been notified and many traces of the missing man were reported, but when the police got on his trail they could not locate the criminal. The search went on and on Friday it was believed he had headed into the Ghost Pine country, where there are no phones, and the description of the man was broadcasted over the radio. About noon on Saturday a man applied at the farm of Mr. Stirling for work, but hearing of the escaped prisoner and of his description, Mr. Stirling identified the man and notified the police and it was not long before Inspector Harrison was on the trail and took Lienweber into custody about six miles south of Hesketh.

On Saturday evening Lienweber was brought before W.A. Braisher, charged with escaping from custody and was committed for trial. After the case Corp. Purdy accompanied the prisoner to Calgary, where he will await his trial.

Snow began to fall on Sunday morning and kept up all day and by Monday over a foot of the wintry mantle covered the ground. By all indications the snow is here to stay and at the time of going to press, the weather was still unsettled.

VISIT OF ANGLICAN BISHOP OF THE DIOCESE OF CALGARY

A banquet will be held by the members of the Anglican church of Carbon in the Masonic Hall on Friday, Nov. 25th, in honor of the visit of the Rt. Rev. Ralph L. Sherman, D.D., Anglican Bishop of the Diocese of Calgary.

Any help from the ladies in the district of Carbon towards making the evening a success, will be most cordially received.

7 YEARS AGO

Taken from the files of the Carbon News of November 10th 1920

Messrs. L. B. Hart, Chas. Bruels and John Clayton were in Calgary on Tuesday.

Mrs. Robertson was in Calgary this week to meet her brother, Hon. A. Meighen.

The people of Carbon were very much surprised when they heard of the death of Miss Agnes McKinnon daughter of Mr. D. A. McKinnon, a well known citizen of Carbon. Mr. McKinnon, hearing of the illness of his daughter, left on Friday for Medicine Hat, where she was in a boarding school, and Sunday seeing her bright and well-disposed started on his return trip, when on Monday on his way home he received a message that she was dead.

A meeting of the Carbon Curling Club was held on Tuesday evening. C. S. Burnett was elected president, W. Leitch vice-president and Harry Evans Sec'y-Treas.

Gamble Items

Mrs. W. J. Gibson, Stanley and Edna, returned Monday from Calgary, where the children had their throats attended to.

Misses Ella Halstead and Fern Ferguson came out from Calgary on Saturday and spent the holiday with their parents near Carbon.

Miss Jean Farris, of Calgary, arrived on Friday and spent a few days as guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D.L. Halstead.

Miss Ione Munroe returned Monday after spending the holiday at her home in Red Deer.

Miss Ethel Wright spent the week end with her aunt in Calgary.

Mr. Gus Burger is having his sale of stock and implements on Nov. 15. He has rented his farm to Frank Van Louven and is leaving for California.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has decided to give the name of Princess Elaine to the new vessel building in Scotland for the Vancouver-Nanaimo route, at a cost of $1,500,000.

To handle the heavy prospective movement of grain this year the Canadian Pacific Railway have opened the Transcona yards at Winnipeg and the new double track between Molson and Whittier Junction.

Some idea of the increase in the volume of traffic through the port of Vancouver is given by the fact that during the past year exports from that port were valued at $149,000,000 as compared with $68,000,000 five years ago.

LITTLE ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Mrs. T. Ramsay went into Calgary on Friday and returned Sunday.

Alex Davis motored into Calgary on Saturday and returned Monday.

Mrs. C.B. Oakley underwent an operation last Friday, in the Calgary General Hospital, and latest reports are that she is doing as well as can be expected.

In spite of the heavy snow fall on Saturday and Sunday, the Bus made the return trip from Carbon to Calgary.

Thanksgiving Services were held in the United Church last Sunday evening.

C.W. Gray was a holiday visitor to Calgary.

Miss Lacombe, of Calgary, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. J. O'Rourke.

Arrangements are being made to hold a prize social and dance in the Gamble school house on Nov. 22, in aid of the Piano Fund of the Gamble school.

Word has been received of the marriage of Mr. Stanley Mutch to Miss Gladys MacDonald, in Hardisty on October 31. Mr. and Mrs. Mutch will reside in Red Deer.

A Good Deed

It was our pleasure, says a writer in a New York paper, to meet with the Boy Scout spirit, fully matured, aboard a Long Island train recently. At one of the stations the gentleman seated in front of us accidentally dropped a glove out the window just as the train started to move out. Without a moment's hesitation he tossed the other one after it. Moved by curiosity, we dropped all reserve to ask him why he had done so. He courteously explained that the one glove that remained would have done him no good; nor would the lost glove have done the finder any good. This being the case, he had tossed out the other, so that the finder might have a complete set.

The viewpoint and line of conduct of this man might well serve as an object lesson to many, adding contentment in their own lives and conferring benefits on others. The average person, it is to be feared, would have grumbled and bemoaned his loss, small though it be, and generally made himself and possibly others miserable for a time, and all to no end. But the hero of this little incident, which might have passed unobserved, enjoyed a brighter outlook on life and a finer conception of things generally. He had sustained a loss which, under the circumstances existing, could not be restored. He realized on the instant that he must accept that loss. His immediate thought was as to how his loss could be turned to somebody's gain.

If in family and community life and activities the spirit displayed by this unknown man became the inspiration of our thought and the guiding motive of our actions, how much happier this old world would become. What contentment of spirit and real joy in living would be experienced by those who adopted and followed such a policy of unselfishness, resulting in an inner gain of satisfaction for outweighing the outward and material loss sustained.

Such a spirit and code of conduct costs nothing, and how much more satisfactory all round it would be to that usually followed in which a loser determines that if he must lose, or has lost, he will at least have the satisfaction, poor though it be, that nobody shall be the gainer thereby.

There are people no doubt who are inclined to belittle and scoff at the insistence with which members of the Boy Scout organization are taught to be watchful for opportunities for helping others in order that they may do at least one good turn a day. But if such people would strive for just one week to emulate these Scouts and do good turns to others, they would quickly discover a new richness and joy in their own lives while at the same time happiness and gain would be conferred on others.

The people of Canada have just observed a day of National Thanksgiving and in a few weeks all Christendom will be joyously celebrating the happiest day in all the year, Christmas. Many may have sustained losses and suffered defeats in the months that are passed without making the slightest effort to extract such profit as they could from their loss and without turning defeat into ultimate victory. Possibly they are still bemoaning the sad fate which overtook them, feeling sorry for themselves, and declaring that luck is against them. Such an attitude will avail nothing; it merely makes for further discontent, discouragement, and additional failure and loss. Such an attitude is taking the joy out of their own future lives and making for unhappiness and misery for others.

Let the dead past bury its dead. Forget your losses and disappointments except as they can be capitalized to realize future gains, if not for yourself, then for somebody else. In the long run this will mean gain for you.

Decorate Nelson Monument

Custom Observed On Anniversary Of Historic Victory

On the anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar, the monument to Lord Nelson in Trafalgar Square, as is customary on this date, was bedecked with laurels. Nowadays the monument has become a sort of cenotaph for wreaths placed there to honor the sailors buried beneath the waves in the Great War.

Nelson's flagship Victory, which is now permanently drydocked at Portsmouth, still is undergoing restoration. Her topmasts and spars have not yet been replaced, so Nelson's famous signal, "England expects that every man will do his duty," flew from the nearby signalling school.

Fokker Foresees Millions Of Planes

Aviation Is Great Factor For Peace
Says Designer and Builder

A million or more planes blackening the air over America, from flyer planes, in which the young man can take his sweetheart for a ride in a dual control side-by-side cockpit, to giant multimotored air transports, were pictured by Anthony H. G. Fokker, at a luncheon of the Netherlands Chamber of Commerce of New York.

Mr. Fokker said the development of commercial flying was closely linked with military aviation and that the nations of Europe had realized this. The subsidies granted to air transport lines in Europe for commercial purposes, he said, were part of the general preparation plan for future wars whereby pilots would be trained and fields, hangars and workshops provided for future military use.

"Aviation is the cheapest and most efficient method for killing people," Mr. Fokker said. "In a city like New York bombing planes loaded with gas bombs could destroy a million persons absolutely without fail. So important will aviation be as an offensive weapon in another war and so great is the range of planes that the safest place for men will be the front line trenches."

The designer suggested that aviation was a factor for peace by its very deadliness as a potential weapon of offense.

"Men are not so likely to start a war or to help keep one going," he said, "when they realize that nowhere can they find safety for themselves. The man who stays away from the front to manufacture shells and guns on war contracts will be in more danger than the man at the front."

Tells Why Germany Failed

Ex-Kaiser Says People Did Not Sacrifice Enough

In an interview with George Sylvester Viereck, printed in Liberty, Wilhelm Hohenzollern, formerly German war lord, tells why Germany lost the war:

"Because we did not obey God in all things; because we hesitated to bear the worst; because we refused in the end to face all risks in preserving faith! The German people performed miracles of endurance, but at the last they failed. The supreme miracle can be accomplished only by faith. We should have fought to the very last carrot. We very last man, the very last round of ammunition."

The emperor is a pretty one to talk about fighting to the last carrot! The German people had indeed performed "miracles of endurance." They had sorrowed over their losses and mumbled their black bread patiently enough. It was their leader, their emperor-king, who by his midnight departure for Holland set them the example of submission to stern fate.

Wilhelm had plenty of carrots. He had caviare and champagne. He had abundance while his people starved. He had millions in the midst of beggary. He had six tall sons, carefully protected during a time when grass grew green on many new graves. For him, now, to blame the German people for "hesitating to bear the worst," for "refusing in the end to face all risks," is, perhaps, no more indecent than might have been expected.—New York World.

Requisite On the Farm.—Every farmer and stock raiser should keep a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on hand, not only as a ready remedy for ills in the family, but because it is a horse and cattle medicine of great potency. As a substitute for sweet oil for horses and cattle affected by colic it far surpasses anything that can be administered.

Standard Too High

Author Receives Courteous Rejection
Slip From Chinese Publishers

John K. Williamson of Detroit, who is stopping in London, has received the prize rejection slip of Chinese publishers. "We read your manuscript with boundless delight," wrote the Chinese firm. "By the sacred ashes of our ancestors we swear that we have never dipped into a book of such overwhelming mastery. If we were to publish this book it would be impossible in the future to issue any book of a lower standard. As it is unthinkable that within the next 10,000 years we shall find its equal, we are, to our great regret, compelled to return this too divine work and beg you a thousand times to forgive our action."

Russian Nobleman

A six-footer of aristocratic mien at the Waldorf, New York, also distinguished by a spike-tailed coat with gold braid, has identified himself as William Schureh de Witte, famous premier under the Czars. He is now a floor waiter, having worked up in six months from kitchen boy.

Proud of his job, he says: "I have more self-respect than when I was playing bridge or attending tea parties in New York City." He kept his incognito until recognized by a woman guest of the hotel whom he had met socially, he says.

Possibility Of War Remote

Last One Taught World a Lesson Says Austrian Ambassador
Possibility of another world war in the near future is very remote in the opinion of Baron George Franchenstein, Austria ambassador to Great Britain.

"The last war taught us a lesson we will not speedily forget," said the Ambassador. "It was a colossal catastrophe that even now the world has not yet recovered from its blows."

The baron is in Canada to arrange for the sending of Austrian peasants to the Dominion to take up farm lands.

RUN DOWN IN HEALTH

Why Many Men and Women Are Badly Handicapped

When you are so run down in health that it impairs the efficiency of your work as well as your power to enjoy your leisure hours, or obtain rest, it is time you looked to the cause. If you do not, a serious breakdown is almost sure to result. In nearly all cases this condition, which doctors usually describe as general debility, is due to poor blood—blood that is deficient in red corpuscles. When the blood is thin and weak your whole system suffers. You lose appetite, have no energy, your nerves trouble you and you feel restless.

What you need is help to build up your blood and you should begin at once to make your blood rich and red by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You will soon notice the difference in your health by a better appetite and increased vigor. The reason is that the new blood created by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills stimulates all the organs of the body to healthy activity and so the system gains nourishment and strength. If you are weak or out of sorts, begin gaining new strength today by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "I was in a badly run down condition," says Mrs. J. Potter, of Winnipeg, Alta. "When I began using Williams' Pink Pills and they fully restored my health. I strongly recommend this medicine to all weak people."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Smart Daytime Dress

Charmingly simple is the smart dress shown here and a style easily fashioned by the home modiste. There is an inverted plait at each side of the front panel, and the back is in one piece. The long rolling collar and vestee of contrasting material give a modish waistcoat effect, and the long darted sleeves are finished with shaped cuffs. A belt fastens at the side seams and ties in a chic bow at the back. No. 1571 is in sizes 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Novel Experience For Turkey

Holiday Observed While First Census Was Taken

Turkey has undergone a novel experience, namely the taking of its first census.

The suspicious populace was convinced that the only possible motive in such a counting of heads was to facilitate the attentions of the tax gatherers.

To offset the opposition, the government decided to keep the people at home while the counting was proceeding. For this reason, Friday, which is a Turkish rest day, was chosen.

From the first streak of dawn, Constantinople seemed a city of the dead. It was plunged into profound silence. Shops were closed and streets deserted. Everyone was rigorously forbidden to leave his domicile until the census was completed.

The data collected included the names of men, women, and children, with their age, religion, native language, profession and state of health and education.

Then Gin Pills
relieved his pain

Harry H. Buss of Egmont, B.C., suffered from a lame back for over 17 years. Every spring he was laid up from work. He tried many remedies, but could not obtain relief. He was advised to try Gin Pills and immediately obtained relief. Read his letter:

"There is nothing to compare with Gin Pills. I suffered unexpectably with a lame back for over 17 years. I tried almost everything, even to hot poultices. I could not sleep. After taking two and a half boxes of Gin Pills I am at work again and feel fine as a fiddle. I will not be without Gin Pills from now on. I am telling everyone in this settlement who has kidney or back trouble to give Gin Pills a trial. Publish my letter as I would like others to know what great relief Gin Pills gave me."

Pains in the back, constant headaches, swollen joints, painful urination, murky urine, brick dust deposits, scanty or too frequent voiding of urine are all symptoms of kidney trouble. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 13

HOSEA PREACHES GOD'S LOVE

Golden Text: "I desire goodness not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings."—Hosea 6:6.

Lesson: Hosea, Chapters 6, 11, and 14.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 36:10.

Explanations and Comments

I. Jehovah's Love For Israel, 11:1-4. "When Israel was a child," in the beginning of its national existence, "then I loved him, and called my son out of the bondage in Egypt." "Called him, locally, into the land of Canaan, and morally, to set an example of true religion."—Cheyne.

"Hosea dwells on that beautiful past, half in melancholy reflection on the contrast, and half in persuasive pleading that the old relations between the nation and their God may be restored. The early days in Egypt and the Desert were a history of grace on the part of God. The prophet stops in his message of doom to recall lovingly the early periods of Israel's national existence, and sees God's love claiming them, and meeting them with its response."—Black.

"The more the prophets called them, the more they went from them; they sacrificed unto the Baalim, and burned incense to graven images." "What, then, was the good of the prophets? They kept up a church within the nation, and they developed ideas which bore fruit in due time."—Cheyne.

Hosea next compares God with a father who teaches his child to walk and carries it when wearied in his arms. But the child failed to recognize that it was Jehovah who healed him. Then the prophet changes the figure from that of a child being trained by a parent to that of an ox driven by a considerate master. "I drew them with cords of a man"—not with reins such as are used for beasts of burden—"with bands (collars) of love; and I was to them as they that lift up the yoke on their jaws; and I laid food before them." Oxen have no reins but are guided by a long goad; the yoke is fixed over the brow near the horns, and thus comes down over the jaws. A considerate owner raises the yoke from the animal's cheeks that it may eat more comfortably.

"How much more clearly should the Christian church see this than Hosea, after the greatest of all object lessons in Jesus Christ! The whole story throbs with human tenderness, with human sympathy with men in their joy and their sorrow, sympathy with a little child, and with all on whom the yoke pressed, the laboring and heavy laden. Can He fail to draw all men unto Himself? With the cords of a man He is drawing all men; in the bonds of love He is binding the world together. Who can resist the appeal?"—Hugh Black.

Hudson Straits Were Free Of Ice

Airmen Patrolling Area Reported Open Water At End Of October

Daily radio reports received from airmen who are now flying the 400-mile stretch of Hudson straits have already accomplished one important purpose.

The navigation period of the straits, even now, has been proved to extend one week longer than was heretofore admitted by many noted authorities. Officials of the marine and fisheries department declared that the airmen reported that there was not yet a sign of ice in the straits on Oct. 27th. The reports came as a surprise to many of these officials, who are authorities on navigation and who confidently expected that ice would drift down Fox channel into the straits shortly after October 1 at the latest. The straits are from 40 to 100 miles in width, so that it was not expected that navigation would close until a great deal of ice had drifted in. As the situation now stands, with no ice whatever in the straits on Oct. 27, they are of the opinion that navigation will be open far into November, perhaps as late as December.

Reports received so far indicate that there is very little variation between conditions of weather, etc., in the straits and in the St. Lawrence gulf. As a matter of fact, fog seems to occur much less frequently in the straits.

SAYS CONDITIONS IN CANADA ARE NOW EXCELLENT

London.—Industrial conditions in Canada are excellent, and the outlook for 1928 is good, said E. W. Field, senior British trade commissioner in Canada, on his arrival at Liverpool aboard the Albatross. He emphasized that there was a marked desire for greater investment in the Dominion on the part of the United Kingdom.

It is probably true to say, continued Mr. Field, that business men and investors of the United Kingdom have taken a greater interest in Canada this year than in any previous years. The visit of the Prince of Wales and Premier Stanley Baldwin to the Dominion last summer made a deep impression, while the tour made by members of the Empire Mining congress brought to the attention of mining men and empire capitalists the vast mineral resources of Canada.

"We had more calls at Montreal from British manufacturers and merchants than at any time previously," said Mr. Field. He emphasized that one cannot sell to Canada at long range because it is a market, above all others, in which the seller must go to the buyer.

Airplane Companies Are Cutting Prices

British and French Competing in Cross-Channel Service

London.—A price war between the French and the British aeroplane companies competing in the cross-channel service between London and Paris was revealed when French Air Union officers here announced further cuts in both first and second class fares, in answer to the Imperial Airways inauguration of a second class service.

The French line also announced that it would make an effort to cut the time between the capitals as well as the fares. The average time is now two hours and a half, but new planes which will have the latest Lioré Olivier engines will be scheduled to make the trip in two hours and 11 minutes.

As a result of the price war, it is only 17 shillings more expensive to go to Paris by air second class than the first class railroad fare and the saving of time is four and a half hours.

Want Expert Advice

Mexico City.—Sir Henry W. Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, has been invited to come to Mexico City to study the financial condition of the National Railways and to suggest a plan for their reorganization in order to place them on a paying basis, the Mexican treasury department has announced officially. The invitation was extended to Sir Henry by President Calles.

U.S. Consulate At Nanking Rubbed Peking.—The safe of the United States consulate at Nanking has been broken open and its contents stolen, according to official reports to foreign sources here from Nanking. The contents included colonial silver heirlooms belonging to John K. Davis, the consul. Bound volumes of the consulate correspondence are being hawked on the streets of Nanking for a few cents as waste paper.

League Now Virtually Universal In Scope

So Long As Nations Co-Operate Membership Not Essential

Geneva, Switzerland.—The League of Nations' dream of universality practically has become a reality. The United States is now participating in virtually all league activities, save those which are political, and the Soviet Government has decided to take part in the league's preparatory disarmament conference.

League observers contend eight years' experience has demonstrated it is unimportant whether nations are members of the international body so long as they willingly co-operate in the league's activities.

Both the Soviet Government and Turkey already are collaborating in the league's economic activities, while Mexico has sent an official observer to the economic conference.

Thus Ecuador is virtually the only nation in the world not yet collaborating and, therefore, the league now regards its activities and influence as virtually universal in scope.

Noted Author Loses Sight Of Right Eye

Booth Tarkington, Threatened With Blindness, Is Undergoing Treatment

New York.—Booth Tarkington, author of "Monsieur Beaucaire," the "Penrod" series of boy stories and many other literary successes in novel, play and short story form, has lost the sight of his right eye and is undergoing treatment at the hands of Dr. John Ray Newcomb, eye specialist of Indianapolis, to save the sight of his left eye, which has been threatened. At his home in Kennebunkport, Me., Mr. Tarkington disclosed that he had lost the sight of his right eye about a year ago.

"I burst a blood vessel, and gradually my eyesight went out," said Mr. Tarkington. "For a time I was threatened by nearsightedness in my left eye, but under strenuous treatment my left eye has improved, and I am now able to use it in my work."

War On Small Envelopes

Post Office Department Has Endless Trouble With Smaller Sizes

Ottawa.—The Post Office Department has declared war on small envelopes and milady's dainty envelope is soon to be a matter of history. Primarily responsible is the new cancellation machine adopted by the postal authorities. In the operation of the cancellation machine, if the envelope be small the cancellation stamp is liable to interfere with the address. Then again small containers are liable to become lost through dropping out of letter bundles. Manufacturers have agreed not to turn out any more small envelopes, and no small Christmas cards necessitating the use of tiny envelopes will be made.

Victory Loans Redeemed

Twenty-nine Million Dollars In Bonds Retired From Revenue

Ottawa.—Canada on Nov. 1 redeemed 29 million dollars in 5½ per cent. five-year Victory renewal loans. Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, has announced. The amount was retired from revenue. Eight million dollars, in treasury notes, which fall due on November 15, will probably also be taken off the market and redeemed from revenue, Mr. Robb intimated.

A further Dominion maturity of sixty-three millions in 5½ per cent. Victory loan is due on December 1.

Stunt Pilot Killed

Dessau, Germany.—The Junkers Company's crack stunt pilot, Earl Plauth, was killed when his plane crashed to the ground from an altitude of 3,000 feet. The plane fell while he was executing a nose dive. He tried in vain to right the machine when he reached an altitude of 1,200 feet.

New Service On Bay Line

Additional 70 Miles Of Track Improve Train Facilities

Winnipeg, Man.—With the addition of 70 miles of line and a better connection at The Pas with the Winnipeg trains, an improvement in train service on the Hudson's Bay Railway came into effect on Thursday, November 3. Trains will leave The Pas every Thursday at 11 a.m., reaching Pilewitone at 11 p.m., departing from Pilewitone 8 a.m. Friday, arriving at the present terminal, Mile 286, at 1 p.m. and reaching the end of steel, Mile 356, at 6 p.m. The new portion of the line is between Mile 286 and Mile 356. Returning, the train, which is a mixed, will leave Mile 356 at 8 a.m. Sunday, arriving at Pilewitone at 6 p.m. the same day and leaving there for The Pas at 4 p.m. Monday. The Pas will be reached at 4 p.m. Monday. Trains leaving Winnipeg Wednesday will arrive at The Pas at 8 a.m. Thursday, and trains leaving The Pas for Winnipeg will pull out at 6:30 a.m. Monday.

Storm Takes Death Toll

Shipwrecks and Great Loss Of Life On British Isles

London.—The death toll of the recent storms in the British Isles mounted to 71, with news of 50 shipwreck deaths in Ireland.

Thirty-one seamen were drowned at Cleggin Bay, while 19 lost their lives at Enniskillen and Laccan.

Lloyd's reported that 17 small vessels were destroyed by the gales, which reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour. Officials estimate several thousand homes were wrecked by floods and winds.

All Canadian Dinner

Ottawa.—An "all-Canadian" dinner will be a feature of the celebration of Canada's "agricultural jubilee" which is to have its climax at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair to be held in Toronto from November 16 to November 24. This announcement was made tonight by the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Dominion minister of agriculture, who will be the host on behalf of the Federal Government. Only food that is the product of Canada will be found on the tables.

Hen Sells For $500

Vancouver.—Announcement has been made by the poultry department of the University of British Columbia of the sale of a White Leghorn hen for $500. The hen was known as F. 319, and was exhibited at Ottawa last summer. Last year she laid 335 eggs in 365 days. F. A. Sansome, Greenwich, Conn., is the purchaser.

Windsor Greets Windsor

Although the Fates decreed that Windsor, Ontario, should not be allowed to send by air an expression of its best wishes to Windsor, England, yet the inhabitants of the English town were apparently determined that a message of goodwill should not go unsaid. Among the Canadian Pacific Express Co.'s shipments aboard the "Montclare" recently was to be found this expression of friendship in the form of a shield of oak made from the Windsor Forest where many Canadians were encamped during the Great War. The shield bears the municipal arms of the Royal and ancient Borough, its charter being granted in 1275 by Edward I.

The shield, which has gone forward to Windsor, Ontario, is the gift of Sir William Carter, Mayor of the English town. It was presented recently at Canada House, Trafalgar Square, London, and was received on behalf of the Canadian city by Lucien Paenud, acting High Commissioner from Canada. A cablegram of thanks from C. E. Jackson, Mayor of Windsor, Ontario, was read on the occasion.

ENTIRE CREW OF JAP VESSEL DIE OF STARVATION

Port Townsend, Wash.—Dead of starvation, despite evidence that indicates they devoured the bodies of seven or eight of their shipmates, the last two to survive of the crew of the Japanese fishing boat Riyo Yei Maru, meaning "Good and Prosperous," arrived here aboard their pitiless vessel after drifting with the sea currents more than 4,000 miles from the coast of Japan.

Physicians from the United States quarantine station here who went aboard the fishing boat said there was no question but that cannibalism had been practiced by the last survivors of the crew. The bones of seven or eight human beings were found aboard the boat, which bore unmistakable evidence of many months at sea.

The boat was picked up by the freighter Margaret Dollar off the Washington coast and towed to the quarantine here.

The bodies of the two Japanese were found in bunks in the tiny dark cabin aft of the engine room. They were in natural positions as if they had failed to awaken from a deep sleep.

The boat was about 85 feet long, 15-foot beam and 12 feet depth, was equipped with a gasoline engine in addition to canvas and bamboo sails. The sails were torn to shreds by poles and standing gear on the deck was twisted and bent. The hull was bare, macle-encrusted and dragging seaweed two feet in length.

Barely decipherable Japanese characters scrawled upon a board in the death ship's cabin gave a meagre record of the last days of the starving crew.

The writing was said to indicate that the ship drifted helplessly for seven months after the captain and crew of 12 despaired of repairing their stalled gasoline engine. Three months ago the starving Japanese gave up hope of living when they saw the first of their number taken by death, the scrawled and faded script in the cabin revealed.

Research Bureau Of Education Urged

Would Develop System Of Instruction Says Dr. Robert Fletcher

Winnipeg.—Establishment of a Dominion research bureau of education for improving the teaching machinery in such a way that the youth of the land would learn more in the same given time, was urged by Dr. Robert Fletcher, B.A., LL.D., deputy minister of education for Manitoba, speaking as president at the opening of the fourteenth annual meeting of the Canadian Educational Association here.

Such a bureau would render very fine service to the provinces without encroaching in any way on the special educational prerogatives which belong to each and which all regard so jealously, declared Dr. Fletcher. He pointed out that the necessity for careful research in both the methods of teaching and the material to be taught was more and more forcing itself upon the attention of educationists.

Asking Protection For Salmon Fields

Delegation From B.C. May Request Government To Enforce Closed Season

Ottawa.—A delegation representing the fishing industry in British Columbia have gone to Ottawa prepared to meet Federal Government officials regarding the conservation of salmon and other species in the coastal and inland waters.

J. N. Ellis, of Vancouver, one of the delegates, states that it is quite likely the government will be asked to enforce a closed season in order to safeguard the future supply of salmon.

Cancels Boycott Against U.S.

Mexico City.—President Calles has cancelled the decree issued last May forbidding government departments to make purchases from the United States as a reprisal for the embargo established on certain shipments belonging to the Mexican Government.

Growth Of Canada's Trade Has Not Been Surpassed By Any Other Country

A survey of Canada's material and spiritual development in the past 60 years, an optimistic outline of what the future holds in store for the Dominion, and a tribute to those who were contributing towards further cementing the friendly relations that have existed between Canada and the United States for over a century were given by the Hon. J. E. Macdonald, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Canadian Government when he addressed a largely attended meeting of the Canadian Club of New York. Mr. Macdonald quoted widely from figures that showed Canada's continued trade expansion and drew from them the lesson that with the same industrious application to the arts of peace in the future, the Dominion could not fail to achieve great things.

Touching on Canada's growth, Hon. Mr. Macdonald said too many were inclined to judge progress of a country by growth of population alone, which was not always a sound basis. In Canada material advancement had been much more rapid than increase of population and in no direct ratio thereto. The standard of citizenship in a country was of vastly more importance than density of population.

The minister reviewed in detail the development of the Dominion since Confederation. The development of the country's trade in the past 60 years reflected her increasing importance in the economic system of the world, a growth, he said, which had not been surpassed in any other country.

Mr. Macdonald touched briefly on the number of Canadians who had gone to the United States. "When opportunities seemed greater for individual advancement," he said, "many Canadians moved to this great land and assisted in its development. Today, I believe, we are seeing evidence of the opposite swing of the pendulum. I firmly believe that no small place in the future development of Canada will be taken by the sons of former Canadians who have helped to develop this great country. It is only natural that with a common language and no great intervening distances opportunities in Canada should appeal strongly to the citizens of this country just as opportunities here have appealed to Canadian citizens."

Black Bass In Saskatchewan Lake

Game Fish Brought From Minneapolis and Will Be Introduced To Prairie Lake

Fishermen who like to fight for their game will be able to get their sport in the heart of the Canadian prairies in the very near future. For the first time, a prairie lake will open its waters to the gamey black bass when the Dominion Fisheries Inspector for Manitoba brings to Kamsack, Saskatchewan, 4,000 fingerlings, which he is transporting in cans from Minneapolis. While the transfer is purely experimental, officials of the fisheries department are satisfied that the fish will do well in their new environment. They will be placed in Madge Lake and other waters near Kamsack.

Western Forest Reserves

Now Used Extensively For Summer Camps and Recreational Purposes

One of the striking features in the development of Dominion forest reserves or national forests in the Prairie Provinces has been their growing use for recreational purposes. People hold picnics in the forests, camp out in them, and, in some, build summer cottages in designated areas. This regulated recreational use of forest reserves in no way interferes with the carrying out of the main purposes, in the production of timber, the protection of stream-flow, etc., for which these areas were set aside.

Grew Enough Potatoes

Saskatchewan will have enough potatoes for her own needs this season without the need of importations, judging by the report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which puts the crop at 3,617,000 cwt., or an increase of 587,000 over last year.

Winnipeg As Aviation Centre

Large Airdrome To Be Built For Use Of Air Liners

Winnipeg is soon to be a great aviation centre with a large airdrome to be built there from which air liners will leave regularly for all parts of Canada, according to H. A. Oaks, Manager of the Western Canada Airways, which has moved its headquarters from Hudson to Ottawa. Three new monoplanes have already been ordered by the company and not less than six are to be purchased next year. The new machines are made necessary by the growing popularity of air travel, according to company officials. During the first eight months of this year the company carried more than 7,000 passengers, about 200,000 lbs. of express, and flew 100,000 miles in 1,500 flying hours.

Beef Grading Plan

Meetings Held To Hear Evidence Of Producers, Retailers and Consumers

Proposals to grade beef for market as has been done in the case of eggs, butter, cheese and other products, are being considered by a commission appointed by the Dominion Government. This commission, which included R. S. Hamer, of the Dominion Livestock Branch, Ottawa; J. H. Evans, deputy minister of agriculture for Manitoba; F. M. Baker, representing the packing interests; R. A. Wright, president of the Western Canada Livestock Union, and L. P. McQuat, of Ottawa, held meetings during the past month, hearing evidence from producers, retailers and consumers as to the probable effect of a system of grading on the marketing of western beef.

Pasteurizing Milk In the Home

A Very Simple Method That May Be Used Without Trouble

Milk and its products are indispensable to the growth of the child and for the health of the adult, but in using it, especially for children, many persons like to be absolutely certain of its freedom from germs. Pasteurizing is the best way of obtaining this certainty, and the process can be easily carried out at the home if it has not already been done at the dairy. A simple method is described in a pamphlet on "Why and How To Use Milk," available at the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. No elaborate or expensive equipment is necessary. If milk is bought in bottles, pour out a little and replace the caps. Insert a small glass dairy thermometer through a hole in the cap of one bottle, and set the bottles on a clean folded towel in a tin pail and pour in warm water until it reaches nearly to the top of bottles. Place the pail over a fire and heat until the thermometer registers 145 degrees F. Remove from the fire and let the bottles stand in the water for 30 minutes, reheating if necessary to keep the temperature at 145 degrees. After 30 minutes pour in cold water and cool the milk as quickly as possible to 50 degrees. Keep as cold as possible until used. If there is no thermometer at hand the water should be heated until a little below boiling point and the bottles kept in it for thirty minutes. The pamphlet contains a large number of recipes in which milk is an important ingredient.

People With Historic Names

Several Come To Mind Who Are Living In England

The marriage in Westminster Abbey of Lady Jane Grey must make many people wonder how many other holders of historic names exist today. Two that come readily to the mind are: Sir Robert Peel, Miss Beatrice Lillie's husband and a lineal descendant of the great Prime Minister, and Sir Hereward Wake. Unlike his prototype, who lived in the Fens and provided the most thrilling story for boys, Sir Hereward Wake lives in Northampton.

Then again there is a haberdasher in the neighborhood of Trafalgar Square, called Charles James Fox. Of Robert Bruces there are several, and there is an equal number of William Wallace, while the late professor of English poetry at Oxford was Sir Walter Raleigh.

Husbands are like automobiles—if you take care of them you don't have to be getting new ones all the time.

Research Work In Wool-Growing

Plan To Help Farmers and Manufacturers In Canada

Plans for research work in connection with wool growing and wool manufacturing in the Dominion with a view to helping both farmers and manufacturers were completed at a recent meeting in Toronto of a special committee of the National Research Council under the chairmanship of Dr. H. M. Tory, of Alberta. Dr. Tory urged the utilization for sheep raising of land in Canada unsuitable for other purposes, textile education through courses in technical schools, courses in universities and research in universities. Committees were formed to implement the plans outlined at this meeting.

An interim report on the quantities and qualities of wools used by Canadian mills disclosed the fact that the bulk of imported woollen goods were produced from types of wools which were or could be grown in Canada. Methods of testing Canadian wools for their suitability for manufacture into types of cloth used in Canada were discussed and the opinion expressed that there was a large and unexplored field for research in the chemical properties of wool.

Ranching In Alberta

Province Supplying Large Quantities Of Prime Beef For Eastern Markets

Though cattle ranching in Alberta is not now the extensive business it was twenty-five years ago, the annual feeder cattle show and sale held recently in Calgary, demonstrated that the ranches and farms of Alberta still supply large quantities of prime beef cattle to eastern and other markets. This year's show attracted a record number of competitive entries for the $7,500 in prize money. Most of the land in Alberta that a quarter of a century ago was the exclusive pasture field of many thousands of beef cattle is now a productive mixed farming country, with dairying as one of the most profitable branches. Alberta is the third largest producer of butter of the nine provinces of Canada, with an annual output of about 20,000,000 pounds, and a yearly agricultural revenue valued at about $225,000,000.

Indian Chief Treasured Perpetual Pass

An interesting incident is recalled by the recent celebrations in honor of the memory of Chief Crow Foot whose wisdom and foresightedness was largely responsible for the signing of the famous Treaty Number 7 which threw open a new empire in the west for settlement.

It was back in the '80's after the treaty with the Blackfoot Indians had been signed, and about the time the Canadian Pacific Railway was pushing its lines of steel into the west, Chief Crow Foot had become known to William Van Horne, then general manager of the Canadian Pacific and as a token of the esteem held for the famous chief by the whites, he was presented with a perpetual pass over the railway Company's lines. This pass became Crow Foot's most treasured possession and he exhibited it with pride among his tribesmen.

In some old records of the Company is proof of the old chief's gratitude. A letter to Van Horne reads as follows:

"Great Chief of the Railway,
"I salute you O Chief, O Great. I am pleased with railway key, opening the road free to me. The chains and rich covering of your name, its wonderful power to open the road, show the greatness of your Chiefness. I have done."

Possibility of war between the United States and Great Britain, with Japan as a British ally and Canada neutral, is seen in the not distant future by Lieut. Commander J. M. Kenworthy, M.P., in his book, "Peace or War," soon to be published in the U.S.

"If events move in the next ten years as in the past nine," he writes, "England will stand at the head of a European federation of distrust against America. If after 1931, there is no renewal of the Washington treaty of 1921, the world will accept the possibility of a devastating Anglo-American war. It would mean the end of civilization and the ruin of human culture."

Commander Kenworthy, member of the English house of commons and former member of the admiralty war staff, sees mistrust between the British and American people as latent and easily capable of being fanned into a consuming passion. Upon the politicians of both countries he lays the blame for the conditions he alleges.

"We muddle and drift and blunder," he writes, "hoping for the best. We shall get the worst. The stupid professionalism of the experts is largely to blame for the gathering rivalry of the two nations in naval affairs. The still more stupid readiness of both governments to follow their counsels is even more culpable."

Jealousy of financial leadership of the United States, bitterness of the British people over payment of the war debt, and mounting commercial rivalry all are cited as factors in the situation the commander describes.

The writer says a naval alliance between Japan and Great Britain would bottle up the Panama canal and destroy the mobility of the United States fleet, leaving the nation at the mercy of its attackers.

Discussion of naval parity, security and preparedness, he writes, might well be abandoned at arms conferences for more important and immediately practical considerations. Chief among the latter, he says, would be settlement of the issue of naval bases, never discussed at the recent Geneva parley. There is no legal barrier, he points out, against modernization of British naval bases at Jamaica and Halifax, but in the event of war between the two nations such fortifications would be of tremendous strategic advantage to Britain.

Other war possibilities outlined in the volume include that of a conflict between Great Britain and Russia. The writer maintains that rivalry in the Orient may bring an outbreak there sooner than is expected. Russian army officers, he writes, are ambitious for a conquering role.

An introduction to Commander Kenworthy's book is contributed by H. G. Wells.

Hens Lay Larger Eggs

Educational Work Of Poultry Associations Given the Credit

Because of the educational work of poultry associations and such organizations, hens are now laying larger eggs, was one of the main contentions of C. N. Ham, Montreal, chairman of the Express Traffic Association, in urging the Board of Railway Commissioners at a session in Calgary, that the board grant permission to establish an estimated weight for billing of 58 pounds, for 50 dozen cases of eggs, instead of the present estimated weight of 55 pounds.

Waiting for something to turn up is one of the greatest obstacles to success.

Helmi carefully studied her ticket—a pale mauve strip of paper with a yellow back, on which were strange words. She saw the names Saskatoon, Edmonton and Eagle Mines. Evidently this last was her destination. Mrs. St. John told her she was going to a lovely spot in the mountains where a lot of men worked in mines. Mrs. St. John had heard her husband speak of it, she said. Helmi shrugged her shoulders doubtfully. A mine where a lot of men worked did not sound very attractive. It would mean that she would have to cook, scrub bare floors, wash big white cups with ugly tea-stains, and have no good times at all. She would rather stay in the city, where she would find a girls' club, and go to suppers in basements, and play basket-ball in schoolyards, and see lovely dresses in shop windows, and eat ice-cream cones, and perhaps have another chance at night school; then on Sundays she would go to church and hear a lovely organ with a sweet religious sound, and perhaps she might find another Miss Abbie.

Helmi now recalled Aunt Lili's advice and faithfully said it over and over again—"Leave men alone—they break your heart." She was determined that she would always remember this. Girls were best, nice girls like Lucy Powers and Hattie. She wished now that she could write Lucy and Hattie and tell them everything, but Mrs. St. John had warned her to write no letters. The Girls' Friendly would try to find her and bring her back, so she must give them no clue.

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minesing, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed, I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have had splendid health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it."—Mrs. NEAL BOWSER, R. R. 1, Minesing, Ontario. Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.

Says Marriage Prolongs Life

Wives Live Longer Than Single Women Declares Actuary

Married women live longer than single women, according to the British Government Actuary, Sir Alfred Watson.

In a report on life tables based on the population as returned in the 1921 census, and on the average number of deaths recorded in the three years 1920-22, rates of mortality for single, married and widowed women show that the advantage lies with the married woman.

At the youngest ages for which comparison was possible, the lightest rates were those for single women. Rates for single and married women differed but slightly between the ages of 24 and 27. But thereafter the rates for married women were usually lower than those of single women or widows, while rates for widows were invariably heavier than those for single women or wives.

What is wrong with the tea? If this question is ever asked at the table you may find that the tea you are using was in a poor package. Careful experiments have proven that Aluminum is the only fit package to keep good tea in. You should try Red Rose Tea and see how fresh and brisk and pungent it is in the Aluminum package.

low passengers, but she lingered over her meals in the diner to watch them, wondering about each of them. Did they all know where they were going? Had they people to welcome them when they arrived at their destination, or were they like her, just going some place to be away from some other place? She wondered, if one kept on going, going, going, would every disagreeable thing fall away, every sin and every sadness? As she looked out over the melting fields, the air was so sweet and purifying—it would surely wash away everything that one did not like to remember—and how that train did eat up the miles—throbbing, pounding, beating, unrelenting and tireless! She tried to see if the telephone poles were all the same distance apart by counting on her fingers at the same rate of speed. Sometimes she could get to ninety, but more often a pole came in at eighty-seven.

Helmi felt the distinction of riding in the drawing room all alone. It seemed to have about it a proud aloofness, with its own little wash-room and towels, and abundance of room, while the car outside was crowded. It flattered her, too, to notice how attentive the porter was, though she was shrewd enough to connect it with the generous tip which she knew Mrs. St. John had given him, engendering in him thereby that gratitude which shades delightfully into antipathy.

Mrs. St. John had told her that when she went for her meals it would be well to carry a book—a book keeps chance acquaintances at a distance, for it plainly means "Keep away! can't you see I'm occupied?"—and just now conversation was not desirable. Helmi's Finnish accent might betray her. All these instructions, hurriedly given though they were on the way to the station were strictly obeyed. She remembered to walk languidly, tip generously and betray no open interest in her surroundings. It was well to let her fellow travellers think that travelling was an old-fashioned experience for her. When she yawned she patted her mouth daintily.

A tired mother with a swarm of sticky children occupied a double seat half-way down the car. When Helmi came out of the drawing room and passed them on her way to the diner, the woman looked after her enviously. "I hope that girl knows when she's well off," she said. "Gosh! it's me that ought to have that place to myself with this gang of mine, where I could wallop them in peace without having folks stare at me. But ain't it the way of the world? Them that has gets! People with big families have small houses; people in big houses have none at all. It sure does seem strange—but what can a person do?"

When Helmi was on her way back the family was in a state of extraordinary commotion. Charley, the five-year-old, was getting a temporary cleaning up by the method known as a "split-wash," the young man objecting noisily, not to the method alone, but to the whole basic principle. In addition to her operations on Charley the mother was trying to quell the riot that had broken out between Maudie and the baby over the finding of a nut-bar in the general turmoil of coats, hats, oranges, bags and toys which were wedged in between the children on the seat. "Maudie, stop! Don't take it from him—let him eat it." The baby had the nut-bar, Maudie hoarsely protested, Maudie's voice was hoarse with roaring, Maudie had to roar if she were to be heard above the family clatter. "Oh, leave him alone while he's good!" cried the mother in despair. "Let me have a moment's peace, even if it does make him sick, I'll give him castor oil to-night. Stand still Charley, or I'll lay you cold!" Then it was that Helmi forgot her instructions, forgot that she was a fugitive from the law—she only knew that here were people who needed a friendly hand of the sort that she could supply.

Worse Than Infantile Paralysis

Infantile paralysis is a flea bite compared to rheumatic fever in the opinion of Dr. John Meakins, of McGill University, who spoke at the post-graduate medical conference in Kansas City. The symptoms of rheumatic fever often are found in five-year-old children and are wrongly called growing pains, he said. In a large number of cases this develops into heart disease.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

How Turkey Handles Speeders

Patrolman Instructed To Throw Nails In Their Path

A unique method of combating the tendency of Constantinople motorists toward excessive speeding has been put into practice recently. The mayor, in addition to providing for a motorcycle traffic squad, has issued instructions that the patrolman be provided with short nails to throw in the path of recklessly speeding drivers.

Constantinople's narrow, tortuous, cobbled and hilly streets are no bar to the chauffeurs, who drive at break-neck speed, causing many casualties.

The mayor says the next campaign will be against excessive noise. He sees no reason why the ordinary automobile should sound like a fire engine answering a call.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause in the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and malnutrition is the result. Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutriment of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

The British Policy

Helping Other Lands To Achieve Best Possible Results

Dr. Adams, emeritus Vice-Principal of McGill, who has returned from a visit to the East, says that the British have made Palestine prosperous. Brigandage has been suppressed, roads have been improved and extended, and reforestation is being studied. Order has replaced disorder and the inhabitants are benefiting. The military force numbers but a thousand, two hundred of whom are British. The High Commissioner is Lord Plumer, a great soldier, who is also a most capable administrator. The improved conditions in Palestine are in the nature of things. It is the British way to help other lands and peoples to achieve the best possible results. —Montreal Gazette.

Cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood poisoning and death resulted.

When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. All dealers, 50c. box.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and end almost any little ill. Flatulency and fever, too; it seems no time until everything is serene.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste, it's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you can give it as often as there's a sign of colic, constipation, diarrhea, or need to add sound, natural sleep.

Just one warning: it is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as free from all doubtful drugs, but no child of this writer's is going to test them! Besides, the look on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

Large Pimples Lasted A Year Cuticura Heals

"My face and neck were all covered with pimples. They were red, hard and large and festered and scaled over. For a while the itching and burning were so severe that I could not help scratching, and my face was disfigured. I lost my sleep for about a month on account of the irritation. The trouble lasted one year.

"I used other remedies but they failed to help me. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using it I purchased one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Ointment and in a month and a half I was healed." (Signed) Miss Emily Doll, Riverton, Man.

Clear the pores of impurities by daily use of Cuticura Soap, with touches of Cuticura Ointment as needed to soothe and heal. Cuticura Talcum is fragrant and refreshing, an ideal toilet powder.

The train came to a standstill at a little station, and Helmi could look right into the dining room where the station family sat at supper. A rosy lamp with a wide umbrella shade threw a circle of mellow light over the table. Helmi could see the father helping macaroni and cheese from a large white bowl. A baby sat in his high-chair pounding impatiently on a blue enamel plate, a girl about Helmi's age, in a white middy, sat beside him; Helmi wondered if that girl knew it was nice to have a family of your own, even if you did have to look after the baby and clean the messy tray of his high-chair after every meal. As she watched the scene slowly passed away from her.

The train with its load of human freight fascinated Helmi. Mrs. St. John had told her it would be best for her to show no interest in her fel-
